

Photo Competition Winners Announced

Competition turns up plenty of talent

The first Pony Club Australia photo competition has unearthed a wealth of talent – and funny expressions and crazy costumes.

The brainchild of the Youth Advisory Council, the competition sparked nearly 1000 entries from around Australia, in five categories:

“The timing was perfect given lockdown,” said PCA CEO Dr Catherine Ainsworth. “Members tackled this with gusto. Members and others have enjoyed seeing entries featured on social media and were keen to see the results announced.”

Fittingly, the winner of the best fancy dress photo was a rider and horse – yes horse – both dressed in PPE. Jess Male, a frontline worker and nurse, says when her daughter Poppy needed a fancy dress costume for a local show, she grabbed some disposable personal protection items from work and the result turned out to be a winner. They are members of Onkaparinga Pony Club, South Australia.
